

Crucible Steel Gallery at CELLspace – Artist Submission Guidelines

The Crucible Steel Gallery at CELLspace is an artist-run collective gallery which focuses on showing the work of emerging San Francisco Bay Area artists. If you don't live near us, we encourage you to seek out artist-run exhibition spaces in your area.

Crucible Steel does not offer solo shows. Members of the collective do curate shows from time to time, and we will add your address to our mailing list for calls for entries, and keep your images on file for curators – but the best way to increase your chances of showing at Crucible Steel is to submit a curatorial proposal for a group show, using our Show Proposal form for curators.

If you would like us to keep your information on file for future shows, please return the following form via email or post. Please also include images (printouts or jpegs – no slides) of your work, or a link to a website which has photos of your work. We'd like to see at least three images. If you email us digital files, please make sure they aren't more than 800kb total.

When are you available to show your work?

How did you hear about Crucible Steel gallery?

We usually schedule shows at least two months in advance. Curators may contact you with requests to show the specific pieces you send us, or invitations to produce new work for a theme show. Please note that curators usually ask artists to deliver/hang their own work.

Please contact gallery@cellspace.org if you have questions, or would like to volunteer with Crucible Steel.

Thank you!
